(54) Title: PORTABLE COMBUSTIBLE FUEL AUTOMATIC DRIP COFFEE MAKER

(57) Abstract: Portable combustible fuel automatic drip coffee making apparatuses (10) use combustible fuels such as propane, butane, white gasoline, and kerosene to heat water which can be alternatively used to make drip coffee, or for other requirements calling for heated water, depending on the selected position of a switching valve (44). The portability of these devices is self contained and hand transportable. The inventive units are designed to be user maintained with easily cleanable or replaceable parts, as well as designed for manufacturing. These units are configured based on the specific fuel being used, and some units are designed to be able to use a variety of fuels in the same unit.
