(54) Title: SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR MANIPULATION OF CONTENT FOR DISPLAY ON DEVICES WITH SMALL DISPLAY AREAS

(57) Abstract: A system and method for manipulating content such as a website by analyzing, extracting, re-scaling, and/or reconfiguring for display on devices with small display on a client display, typically a small display. The system generally comprises a filter adapted to examine the source content and filter the source content into one or more components and a reconfiguration application in communication with the filter and the client display (152), the reconfiguration application is adapted to analyze each of the components of the source content (154) and to reconfigure the source content by generating a table of contents or reorganizing the components (160).
