(54) Title: METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR STEREOSCOPIC IMAGING, AND ADAPTOR THEREFOR

Fig. 2

(57) Abstract: An apparatus (100) is provided for the production of stereoscopic images, the apparatus comprising: first and second imaging surfaces for the receipt of light one or more light sources (7, 107) for illuminating a subject with first characteristic radiation being polarised in a first orientation and second characteristic radiation being polarised in a second orientation: a first polarising element (101) for inhibiting passage of first characteristic radiation to the first imaging surface but facilitating the passage of second characteristic radiation to the first imaging surface, and a second polarising element (102) for inhibiting passage of second characteristic radiation to the second imaging surface but facilitating the passage of first characteristic radiation to the second imaging surface.

* Special categories of cited documents :

"A" document defining the general state of the art which is not considered to be of particular relevance

"E" earlier document but published on or after the international filing date

"L" document which may throw doubts on priority claim(s) or which is cited to establish the publication date of another citation or other special reason (as specified)

"O" document referring to an oral disclosure, use, exhibition or other means

"P" document published prior to the international filing date but later than the priority date claimed

"T" later document published after the international filing date or priority date and not in conflict with the application but cited to understand the principle or theory underlying the invention

"X" document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered novel or cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is taken alone

"Y" document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is combined with one or more other such documents, such combination being obvious to a person skilled in the art.

"&" document member of the same patent family
