(54) Title: METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR SECURE REDIRECTION OF INCOMING AND OUTGOING MULTIMEDIA SESSIONS OVER A DATA NETWORK

(57) Abstract: The present invention presents a method and system for enabling users to communicate over telephony and WWW networks, comprising: (a) one or more community servers connected to the WWW network for receiving and redirecting calls from a caller to a called party, wherein at least the caller is a registered user; (b) a plurality of client node devices, each provided to one or more users for enabling said users to communicate with other registered or unregistered users through said one or more community servers, each client node device connected to its corresponding community server over said WWW network, wherein at least a portion of said client node devices are also connected to said telephony network; and (c) a plurality of users' phones, each comprising a corresponding client node device or connected to said corresponding client node device for communicating over the telephony and WWW networks. The present invention further relates to methods for: (a) determining a best available communicating route for transferring a call between a caller and a called party over a telephony and WWW networks; (b) providing a secure registration of users over telephony and WWW networks; (c) providing secure authentication of registered users over telephony and WWW networks; (d) sharing communication resources over telephony and WWW networks to provide the best available communication route; (e) providing a SPAM control over telephony and WWW networks; and (f) providing a multilingual answering machine service over telephony and WWW networks; and (g) providing a secure eCommerce service over telephony and WWW networks.
