(54) Title: METHOD FOR ESTABLISHING COMMUNICATION FROM A MOBILE TERMINAL IN DUAL MODE

FIG. 2

(57) Abstract: A method for establishing communication to a remote terminal from the mobile terminal operating in dual mode, which method is characterized in that it comprises the following operations: The terminal considers a contact corresponding to the remote terminal and comprising a string of characters comprising an identification field containing an identifier of the remote terminal, and a description field containing at least one character corresponding to a predetermined category to which the identifier contained within the identification field belongs; The terminal analyzes the string of characters; The terminal considers the value of the description field; A rule for establishing communication corresponding to said value is determined; - The value of the identification field is considered; A request to establish communication in accordance with said rule is sent to the remote terminal.
