DAVID PANGLE, OF BELMONT, OHIO.

Letters Patent No. 69,580, dated October 8, 1867.

IMPROVEMENT IN SHEEP-HOUSE.

The Schedule referred to in these Letters Patent and making part of the same.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Be it known that I, DAVID PANGLE, of Belmont, Belmont county, Ohio, have invented an improved "Sheep-House;" and I do declare that the following is a full and exact description thereof, (see drawing, Figures 1 and 2.)

The nature of my invention consists of a house (fig. 1) put together in sections or panels, (letter G, figs. 1 and 2.) The sections or panels G to be of any required length and height, and made of boards and scantling. The boards H nailed perpendicularly to scantling or stringers A, figs. 1 and 2, running horizontally. The sections or panels G held together by means of tenons B at the ends of the stringers A, and pinned by means of movable pins C. The house held together sideways by means of cross-stringers E, fig. 2, mortised into stringers A, fig. 2, and pinned with movable pins C. The roof F, fig. 1, to be made in sections or panels similar to the sides and ends of house, or of scantling, lath, and shingles, made in sections, and held together the same as side and end panels, but the roof F held together at top or comb by means of iron screws or bolts D, fig. 1, with nuts through the top scantlings K, and also bolted on the house by means of screw-bolts, with nuts D through the scantling in roof; and the top scantling or string-plate A in section or panel of house.

What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by Letters Patent, is—

An improved sheep-house, of any required length, height, and width, constructed and put together with panels G, figs. 1 and 2, or sections, held together by tenons B on ends of stringers A, and pinned with movable pins C, &c., after the plan and in the manner set forth in the foregoing specification.

May 11, A. D. 1867.
