(54) Title: BARBECUE APPARATUS

(57) Abstract: An apparatus for barbecuing foodstuffs comprises a firebox (10) having a solid bottom plate (11) around which a perforated wall surround (12) upstands. The top of the firebox (10) has thereover three removable perforated "hot" plates (14). The firebox (10) is of parallelepiped shape and hollow, the wall surround (12) having two end walls (12A) and two side walls (12B). The perforations (14A) are provided in both side walls (12B). The three "hot" plates (14) are of similar shape and areal dimensions to extend between the side and end walls of the wall surround (12). The "hot" plates (14) are rectangular and have a downturned edge (21) along both longitudinal sides (20). The end of the "hot" plates (14) are cranked upwardly and outwardly to extend beyond the side walls (12B) of the firebox (10) for ease of removal, if required.

* Special categories of cited documents :

- A document defining the general state of the art which is not considered to be of particular relevance
- E earlier document but published on or after the international filing date
- L document which may throw doubts on priority claim(s) or which is cited to establish the publication date of another citation or other special reason (as specified)
- O document referring to an oral disclosure, use, exhibition or other means
- P document published prior to the international filing date but later than the priority date claimed

- T later document published after the international filing date or priority date and not in conflict with the application but cited to understand the principle or theory underlying the invention
- X document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered novel or cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is taken alone
- Y document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is combined with one or more other such documents, such combination being obvious to a person skilled in the art.
- Z document member of the same patent family
