Garbage collection truck.

A garbage collection truck (1), in which the pressing plate (14) for transferring garbage from a collecting chamber (7) defined by a casing (5) to the body (2) is guided for movement in the casing (5) in a manner such as to be almost free from friction and wear. For this purpose, there are provided two pairs of rods (17, 18) having opposite ends pivoted respectively on the casing (5) and the pressure plate (14), and forming two articulated quadrilaterals the fixed sides of which are constituted by the casing (5) and the movable sides of which, opposite the fixed sides, are constituted by the plate (14).
