(54) Title: LOCATION AWARE REMINDERS

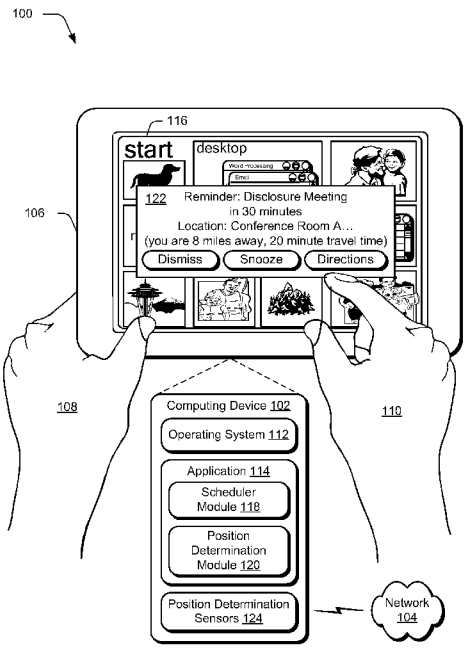

Fig. 1

(57) Abstract: Location aware reminder techniques are described. In one or more implementations, an amount of time is determined by a computing device that is likely to be involved for a user to access a scheduled event. A point in time at which to output a reminder by the computing device before the scheduled event is computed based at least in part on the determined amount of time that is likely to be involved for the user to access the scheduled event.
