(54) Household dishwashing machine with dispensing device of washing agents and wash program thereof

(57) A household dishwashing machine is described, comprising: a programmer, being apt to control execution of a plurality of various wash programs (basic cycle, intensive cycle, economy cycle, etc.), at least one of these programs comprising a plurality of sequential steps (prewash, main wash, rinses, etc.); a washing agents dispenser (1), comprising at least a compartment (3) for containing a single dose of washing agent, required for performing a single wash program.

According to the invention, said dispenser (1) comprises means (7) for dividing said single dose of washing agent in a plurality of sub-doses of a predefined volume, and said programmer is set for controlling said means (7), in order to dispense at least a relevant sub-dose of washing agent during at least two different steps, or dispensing a plurality of said sub-doses at least within one same step.
