(54) Title: METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR DELIVERY OF THERAPEUTIC GAS

(57) Abstract: Preferred embodiments include associating surface material samples with a business entity within one or more computer databases (116, 118, 120) wherein at least one of the surface material samples are labeled with information specified by the business entity(102a-102n) . Data requests are received for at least one of the surface material samples and include an identifier of the business entity. A response to the data request includes at least one of the surface material samples and associated label information. The response to the data request may be layered based upon supply chain layer.
