Title: METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR HANDLING OF OBJECTS

Abstract: An object (S910), including any tangible or non-tangible content, such as a letter, package, electronic document, customer relations information, e-mail, or the like, will have at least one characteristic assigned (S920) to which a translational language will be applied (S980). The translational language will assign an action to the object (S990) based on the results of applying the translational language (S980) to the characteristics, or values representing the characteristics.
