(54) Title: ANTIGLARE GLASS PRODUCTION METHOD

FIGURE 1

(57) Abstract: This invention relates to the production method of an antiglare glass on screens which are provided at the front of electronic display systems such as LCD, displays, tablets, smart boards and commercial type refrigerators. The glass production method subject of the invention comprises the steps of protecting the surface of the glass which will not be matted preferably by covering with foil, 10 applying a solution comprising hydrofluoric acid, barium sulphate and ammonium bifluoride to the surface of the glass which will be matted, removing the solution comprising hydrofluoric acid from the surface of the glass, drying the glass after being washed, covering the surface of the glass which will not be matted preferably with foil again, delivering the glass by immersion in a pool containing 15 hydrofluoric acid, cleaning the glass from the hydrofluoric acid remaining on its surface, cutting the glass into desired dimensions and putting the glass through the treatment process.

* Special categories of cited documents:

- “A” document defining the general state of the art which is not considered to be of particular relevance
- “E” earlier application or patent but published on or after the international filing date
- “L” document which may throw doubts on priority claim(s) or which is cited to establish the publication date of another citation or other special reason (as specified)
- “O” document referring to an oral disclosure, use, exhibition or other means
- “P” document published prior to the international filing date but later than the priority date claimed

“T” later document published after the international filing date or priority date and not in conflict with the application but cited to understand the principle or theory underlying the invention

“X” document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered novel or cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is taken alone

“Y” document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is combined with one or more other such documents, such combination being obvious to a person skilled in the art
