

DESIGNS FLOWS

DIV. I

Design
G.F. DARROW (deceased)

By his Administrator G. Johnson,
ASSIGNOR TO

J.L. HAVEN & Co.

3785

PATENTED DEC 14 1889

Design for a Plow Clevis.

FIG. 1.

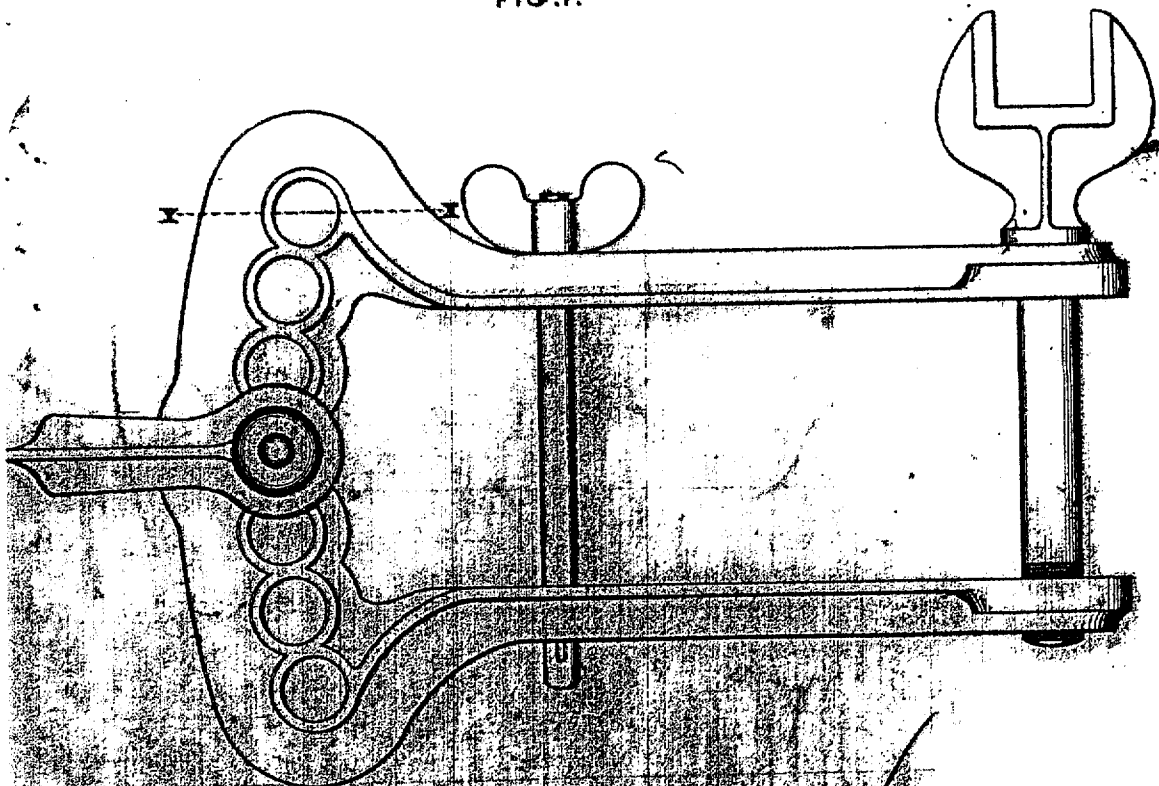

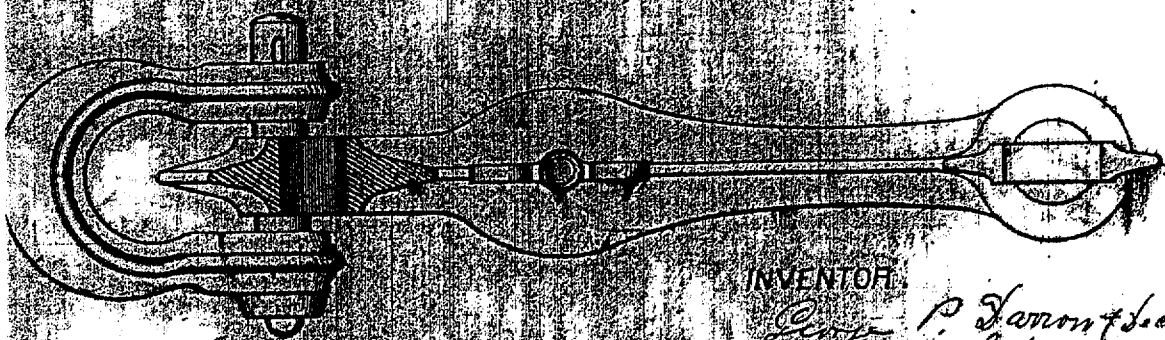

FIG. 2.

INVENTOR

G. P. Darrow (deceased)

G. Johnson

his Administrator

ATTEST

Wm. B. Smith

United States Patent Office.

GEORGE JOHNSON, OF CINCINNATI, OHIO, ADMINISTRATOR OF THE ESTATE OF GEORGE P. DARROW, DECEASED, ASSIGNOR TO JAMES L. HAVEN & CO., OF SAME PLACE.

Design No. 3,785, dated December 14, 1869.

DESIGN FOR A PLOW-CLEVIS.

The Schedule referred to in these Letters Patent and making part of the same.

GEORGE P. DARROW, deceased, late of Cincinnati, Hamilton county, Ohio, during his lifetime, invented and produced a new and original Design for a Plow-Clevis.

The design is correctly represented by the accompanying drawing, in which—

Figure 1 is a side elevation of the clevis.

Figure 2, a plan view of the same, partly in longitudinal section on the line X X, fig. 1.

Claim.

I claim, as the invention of the said GEORGE P. DARROW—

The design for a plow-clevis, herein shown and set forth.

In testimony of which invention, I hereunto set my hand.

Witnesses:

GEORGE JOHNSON.

GEO. H. KNIGHT,

JAMES H. LAYMAN.