ADDISON SMITH, OF PERRYSBURG, OHIO.

Letters Patent No. 108,526, dated October 18, 1870; antedated October 8, 1870.

IMPROVEMENT IN CHILDREN'S DINING-CHAIRS.

The Schedule referred to in these Letters Patent and making part of the same.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that I, ADDISON SMITH, of the town of Perrysburg, in the county of Wood and State of Ohio, have invented a new and useful Improvement in a Child's Dining-Seat, so that the same may be afforded at reduced cost, while it is capable of adjustment to the varying sizes of children, and, when out of use, of being hung up out of the way, thereby relieving the dining-room of the awkward incumbrance of the child's common high chair.

The invention consists of an ordinary chair-seat of suitable size for a child, near the back edge of which seat, two standards or corner posts are fixed and connected by a cross-bar.

In these posts arms are set, supported by posts in front. On each rear post, a ferrule, with an attached hook, slides. These ferrules are fixed at any desired height by a set-screw, and when so fixed, the seat may be suspended by the hooks from the back of any ordinary chair.

References.

a are the standards or corner posts.

b, ferrules, with the attached hooks turned backward.

c, thumb-screw.

What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by Letters Patent, is—

A movable elevated seat for children at the table, capable of attachment by suspension to the back of an adult's chair by standards a, ferrules and hooks b, and screws c, substantially as above described.
