(54) Title: METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR ENCAPSULATION OF APPLICATION

Fig. 6

(57) Abstract: A system and method for encapsulating a target application are described herein. In particular, an analysis of the target application can be performed to determine one or more characteristics of the target application. Based on the analysis of the target application, a blueprint of the target application can be generated. Based on the blueprint, an encapsulation application can be constructed for the target application. In addition, the target application can be encapsulated with the encapsulation application to create an encapsulated target application to enable adaptive loading of the target application.
