(54) Title: PUBLISH INFORMATION ON WEBSITE

(57) Abstract: The present disclosure provides an example method, device, and system for publishing information to various web-sites. Publishing Information is collected from a corresponding registration server based on registration information. The publishing information includes the receiving terminal registration information. The publishing information is sent to a corresponding website according to the receiving terminal registration information. The receiving terminal registration information corresponds to a server domain address of the corresponding website. The present techniques reduce redundant posting steps at the websites and improve the efficiency of posting.

INTERNATIONAL SEARCH REPORT

International application No.

PCT/US 13/53300
