(54) Title: CARD GAME

(57) Abstract: A method for playing a card game in two columns of cards of given point value are dealt to each player and in which the player with the lowest point difference the two columns of cards is the winner. The game is ideally suited to be played at home for casino play with a casino dealer, particularly since there is no need for the players to handle the cards. In addition, other games such as Three-Card Poker and Double Three-Card Poker can be played as integral elements of the basic game.
