UNITED STATES PATENT OFFICE.

IGNAC PICK, OF LONDON, COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX, ENGLAND.

GARMENT.

SPECIFICATION forming part of Letters Patent No. 310,309, dated January 6, 1885.

Application filed November 14, 1884. (No model.) Patented in England September 25, 1884, No. 1,634.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that I, IGNAC PICK, of London, in the county of Middlesex, England, have invented a new and useful Improvement in Garments, of which the following is a full, clear, and exact description.

My invention relates to the combination, forming a single garment, of a cape, boa, and muff; and the invention consists in combining and arranging the several parts of the garment in such a manner that the boa forms at the same time a collar and a muff.

Reference is to be had to the accompanying drawings, forming part of this specification, in which similar letters of reference indicate corresponding parts in both the figures.

Figure 1 is a front elevation of my invention. Fig. 2 is also a front elevation, with the front portions of the garment thrown back to show clearly the arrangement of the muff.

According to my invention, the cape A is provided with the boa B, which is by preference padded or stuffed to stand upward, and it is stitched to that part of the cape A forming the neck thereof, so as to constitute the collar b, to close around the neck of the wearer. The boa B is then carried down and is stitched on opposite sides of the front or opening of the cape; or the cape may be so constructed as to form part of the continuation of the boa, as shown at C C, Fig. 1, by padding these portions of the cape.

D D represent the muffs or pockets for the hands of the wearer, which muffs are formed at the lower edge of the cape, as shown in the drawings, openings E E being formed to admit the hands of the wearer to the muffs from the outside of the garment. The muffs are also open, as shown at F, to admit the hands of the wearer from the under or lining side of the cape. The lower front portions, C C, of the cape may be left free, and these front portions are padded or stuffed to form the muffs, and suitable hooks and eyes are provided for closing the cape in the ordinary way.

Having thus described my invention, what I claim as new, and desire to secure by Letters Patent, is—

As an improved article of manufacture, a combined cape, boa, and muff, consisting of the cape A, provided with the boa B around its collar, and the parts C, forming a continuation of the boa and having the muff D at their ends, the cape being provided with the external and internal openings, E F, as set forth.
